

The California School of Professional Psychology, Alliant International University
Core Faculty Positions
Assistant/Associate Professor
Fall 2010

The Clinical Ph.D. Program at the Los Angeles campus of The California School of Professional Psychology, Alliant International University is seeking two full time core faculty members at the Assistant/Associate Professor level for Fall 2010. All candidates will have demonstrated teaching excellence preferably at the graduate level, understanding of diversity issues, clinical expertise and a commitment to productive scholarship. Candidates should have a doctoral degree in psychology and be licensed or license-eligible in California. We prefer candidates with expertise in working with diverse populations and conducting culturally relevant research.

We are seeking one faculty member with expertise in teaching and scholarship in the areas of health policy, social policy and advocacy, and/or family, couples and systems theories and approaches. The area of interest for the second position is open. Ethnic minority psychologists, women, people with disabilities and psychologists from other diverse groups are encouraged to apply.

Please submit your curriculum vitae, a cover letter describing qualifications and interests, representative reprints and three letters of recommendation to: Linda Beckman, PhD., Co-Chair, Clinical PhD Faculty Search Committee at lbeckman@alliant.edu. Inquiries can be addressed to Dr. Beckman at lbeckman@alliant.edu or 626-270-3302. Review of applications will began immediately and continue until the positions are filled.

Alliant International University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, committed to ensuring a high quality of education through the diversity of the University community and the curriculum.

The California School of Professional Psychology (CSPP) at Alliant International University offers APA-accredited doctoral programs (PsyD and PhD) in Clinical Psychology at five campuses in California, COAMFTE-accredited master's and doctoral programs in Marital and Family Therapy at four campuses in California, a national postdoctoral master's program in psychopharmacology, and international programs in Hong Kong, Japan and Mexico.

CSPP's mission is to provide the highest quality education, training, research and service in professional psychology and related human service fields. We strive to improve the quality of life by fostering respect for human diversity in a multicultural and international society and by combating discrimination in all its forms. We seek to redefine excellence in scholarship via models of applied clinical research that provide a solid framework to understand and address problems of contemporary life.